residences

Your residence can look and feel like your own and serves as a home base while you explore boundless avenues to participate in exciting and engaging social activities, excursions and wellness opportunities. Many communities offer multiple floor plans with customizable options and features. Newer residences often include beautiful kitchens so you can cook delicious homemade meals and entertain friends and family. Nearly all maintenance needs can be covered with a simple support call to community staff. If you require in-home medical services, they can be comfortably provided by a familiar team member. Guest apartments are often available for visitors staying overnight.
